	kind		a positive role model		keeps them in mind
	They are kind and caring and recognise and they praise me and other children and grown-ups too when they try hard or do things well.		They always talk and behave in a respectful and kind way and try to show me and others how to behave well.		They take an interest in me and all the children and the grown-ups as well and our lives and try to get to know me and how to get the best from me.
